

Due to a limited supply and higher than usual demand, prices on core items are significantly up. As a result, you may see a potential interruption in supply along with fluctuating costs. Unfortunately, these are costs that we do not control. Our profit margins are the same and, in some instances, we have even reduced/eliminated any potential profit for the store to keep the costs as low as possible during this unprecedented time.

Thank you!

for your patience and
understanding during this time.

