A Message about Egg Pricing:

A rapid increase in grocery shopping stock-up during the COVID-19 pandemic has created a shortage in many commodity items—especially eggs.

We are working diligently to keep eggs in stock. However, short supply and increased demand mean we are temporarily paying higher prices for eggs—sometimes significantly more.

While the product shortages and price increases are beyond our control, what we can control is the price we charge you.

Please note, we are currently selling high-quality eggs at the lowest possible cost. In many cases, that means at or below what we paid for them.

We value our ongoing relationship with you and want the best for our community during this unprecedented time.

Thank you for shopping with us!
